Introduction

Segal's text book on the grammar of Mishnaic Hebrew was first published in 1927*. Although almost seventy years old it is still being used by many students of Mishnaic Hebrew. To my knowledge there is no real successor to this book in the English language.

For those who want to study the Hebrew of the Mishna, Segal gives ample information on Phonology and Orthography, Morphology as well as on Syntax (Sentences and Clauses). The student of Mishna, however, will have difficulties in finding references to the particular mishnayot he or she may be studying. A reference index of Mishna Passages is missing. Segal says about this: "It has not been found practicable to accompany the work with a general index." In view of the enormous number of references (over 4000 Mishna references in the main body of the text alone) it is understandable that Segal, working in the Pre-Computer age, decided not to undertake such a gigantic effort.

With the help of a computer the task although substantial can be accomplished. In this compilation we have restricted ourselves to Mishna references in the main body of the book only. References to other rabbinic sources and to the footnotes have not been included.

As mentioned above the index consists of over 4000 references. It is not surprising that some of these are not correct although their number is surprisingly small. Wherever they were detected they are given in the Notes at the end of the register.

References to the same mishna verse do occur sometimes more than once in the same page and section. When this happens twice it is indicated by an asterisk (*) behind the reference and with a plus (+) when there are three occurrences.

It can, of course, not be expected that all those many references are equally important. I hope, however, that the Index will contribute to the usefulness of this small but monumental work.

* M.H. Segal, "A Grammar of Mishnaic Hebrew", Oxford (Clarendon Press) 1927, ISBN 0-19-815454-2.

 During the revision of February 2005 it was found that despite the efforts undertaken originally some of these references occurred more than once in the index. If such a case was encountered. It was not corrected.

Note on the conversion to (PDF)

In the year 2004 it was decided to make the index available on the internet. It was therefore necessary to convert the text from WordPerfect in which it was originally edited to WORD and from WORD to PDF.

The reason for this decision was a remark made in a review on a number of books on Rabbinic Hebrew by F.T. Hendriks and A. Schouten in their article in Alef Beet, "Tijdschrift van de Vereniging tot bevordering van de kennis van Hebreeuws" vol. 14 no. 1, July 2004. "Eerste aanzet tot een leermiddelengids Rabbijns Hebreeuws" They noted that Segal's book did not contain an index. As I had made such an index some years earlier, it was decided to put it on the internet.

I am grateful to Mrs. Tine Dam and Mr. Peter Broers for their efforts in accomplishing the conversion.

I hope that the index will be a useful tool for those students who want to study Rabbinic Hebrew with the aid of Segal's still excellent book

Notes

- 1 . column 1, "ch.", gives the chapter number of the tractate concerned;
column 2, "m.", the mishna number;
column 3, "p.", the page number in "Segal" of the reference, and column 4, "sec.", its section number.
- 2 . Erroneously referred to Ab. vii. 6.
- 3 . 'Arak. read 'Ar.
- 4 . In Segal given as 'AV v. 7.
- 5 . Abbreviated as Bez. instead of Be.
- 6 . Segal gives here vii. 51 instead of vii. 5. The plural form '.,haburoth' is given in this mishnah instead of singular as in Segal.
- 7 . Chapter number exceeds maximum; the correct reference has not been found.
- 8 . Quoted incorrectly as 'ib. v' following 'BM iii 1'
- 9 . Abbreviations 'Da.' and 'Dam.' are both being used.
- 10 . Segal gives ib. xi. 2, which is not correct
- 11 . Read t.Gi.,t, i.e. Tosefta and not a Mishnah reference.
- 12 . Read Gi.,t x. b. instead of x. 6. This is not a Mishnah reference.
- 13 . Read Gi.,t xii. b. instead of xii. 6. This is not a Mishnah reference.
- 14 . Segal gives .,Ha. instead of .,Hal.
- 15 . Segal gives Kil. instead of K^el.
- 16 . Segal gives for this and the next entry Kil. xx. 4 & 6. See also the following note.
- 17 . Kilaim has only 9 chapters and in some versions 10.
- 18 . Segal gives K^eri. instead of K^er.
- 19 . The reference given in Segal, San. xii. 5 is wrong. See also note 28.
- 20 . Segal gives M^ei instead of M^eil.
- 21 . N^eg is missing from the list of abbreviations on page xxv.
- 22 . Segal writes Oho. instead of Oh..
- 23 . Segal gives here 'Or. vii. 7 which is an error.
- 24 . Also Par. and Para.
- 25 . Given as ix. 61.. It is unclear whether the example "qareev" is correct.
- 26 . Given as Kin. instead of Qin..
- 27 . Sanhedrin has only 11 chapters. This entry and the one which follows refers to the word "is.,tasis". This word is found neither in the dictionary of Jastrow nor in that of Dalman.

28. Invalid entry (see previous note). The word referred to "h'zimum", however, appears in Mak. i.5.
29. Erroneously given as iii. 41.
30. Given as iv. 81.
31. In Segal given as xi. 1. The word referred to, however, "hesi.,t" is in all likelihood derived from the root "su.,t" and not from "ns.,t" as Segal states.
32. Chapter 5 of this tractate does not exist; the correct reference has not been found.
33. Given as Yo. x. 5.
